Linda Strean
DIRECTOR OF MEDIA AND WEB

Linda Strean is director of media and web at the Public Policy Institute of California, responsible for both media outreach and website operations. She is a veteran journalist who was metro editor and deputy managing editor at the San Francisco Chronicle and managing editor at the Santa Barbara News-Press. She was also managing editor of GreatSchools.net, a national nonprofit website that helps parents navigate their children’s K–12 education. She holds a BA in sociology from the University of California, Santa Barbara, and attended and lectured in the Graduate School of Journalism at the University of California, Berkeley.