

Research Seminar Series at PPIC

The purpose of the Research Seminar Series is to bring leading scholars and researchers to present policy-oriented research that utilizes cutting-edge methods. The primary scholars we will consider for this program include those from multiple disciplines (economists, sociologists, demographers, etc.) in academia, think tanks, and government agencies.

PPIC will reimburse visitors for automobile mileage, air travel, ground transportation to and from airports, one or two nights of hotel accommodations, and up to $50 per diem for meals. No honorarium will be offered.

Scholars and researchers interested in participating in this series should contact Helen Lee, chair of the research seminar series committee. Please include all relevant information, including research paper, CV, and contact information for consideration by the seminar committee.